IMPORTANT CHANGE IN DIVORCE LAW IS RECOMMENDED

Provision Made for Judicial dead: Joe Curtain, engineer; E.M. Met-Recommendations.

(Special from United Press.) New Haven, Jan. 16 .- At a well attended meeting of the Connecticut Bar University, to-day the committee on jurisprudence, to which had been referred a number of important questions reported, making some rad.cal recommendations which if adopted, would materially change the divorce law in this state.

The committee is composed of Attorneys William H. Williams, Edward M. James P. Pigott, A. Heaton Robertson and Charles E. Searles. The first recommendation is that a law be passed providing for separation instead of divorce. On this the report states, the committee are of the opinion that it should be provided by law that the superior court, for any of the causes now justifying a divorce under our statutes, may in its discretion, in lieu of a divorce, order and decree a judicial separation for such time as it may determine and in cases where the wife is granted such separation the court may order the husbend to contribute to the support of
